What Industry Experts Are Saying About Kennametal's Recycling Program

"Recycling completes the loop in supply chain efficiency for the manufacturing client. Kennametal has developed a logistically simple and economically attractive way to recycle used tooling. Spent tools can be returned to a Kennametal recycling center in an easy-to-use "green box" for cash, credit, invoice reduction, or new tooling, depending on the client's needs.

In addition, professionally managed corporate recycling efforts such as Kennametal's can help clients avoid potential liability situations related to poor recycling practices."
